

YORK LGBT+ HISTORY MONTH 2024

1-29TH FEBRUARY
EVENTS PROGRAMME

Here we are again for LGBT+ History Month 2024!

York has one of the most vibrant and interconnected queer communities around, with something going on pretty much every day. For History Month this year, we've stepped that up a notch and made it actually every day in February!

There's drag and drama, talks and tours, markets, movies, meetups and more. Learn a new skill, perform with the choir or open mics, find fabulous gifts for your Valentine, your friends, or yourself, and meet plenty of fabulous new people.

This year we're also keeping better records! We've teamed up with the fabulous Jazz to create Know York LGBT, which will be hosting videos and interviews from various events throughout the month and in the future. You can find her on YouTube, TikTok, and Facebook, or email knowyorklgbt@gmail.com to get involved.

See you out there!

- Lali Hewitson, owner of The Portal Bookshop, LGBT+ History Month Officer for York Pride

Special thanks to everyone who pitched in to organise - this programme is just a collection of their hard work

Keep up to date with any additions through yorklgbthistory on Facebook and Instagram

See Thursday 1st for details

Thursday 8th 7:45pm - Separate Tables

Terence Rattigan's Separate Tables is set in a shabby Bournemouth hotel in the 1950s, where guests, both permanent and transient, sit on separate tables, a formality which underlines the loneliness of these characters. It has been said of Rattigan that he 'understood our national psyche'...never more so than in this play about class, secrets and repressed emotions.

Location: Theatre Royal, St. Leonard's Place, YO1 7HD

Organised by: York Settlement Community Players

Tickets/info:

<https://www.yorktheatreroyal.co.uk/show/separate-tables/>

Friday 9th 7:45pm - Separate Tables

Friday 16th 6-7pm - Lesbian Nuns and Trans Saints: Finding the Queer Past in Medieval Religious Writings

A book of moral stories written by a priest for a community of medieval nuns might not sound like a place to find queer narratives. But this book ends with a lengthy tale about a trans monk, and contains a warning for the nuns about the temptation they might pose – to each other. In this talk for LGBTQ History Month, Emmie Rose Price-Goodfellow (Research Associate at the Centre for Medieval Studies, University of York) will explore the unexpected queer pasts visible in medieval religious writings.

Location: Portal Bookshop, 5 Patrick Pool, YO1 8BB

Organised by: The Portal Bookshop
